WOMEN'S LEAGUE LEADING IN CAMP-US ACTIVITIES

The Women's League of Howard University is an organization composed of all the women students. The organization was perfected four years ago, and since then under Dean Slove and able staff officers has accomplished much.

This scholastic year has been, and promises to continue, a gala year in the history of the League. Under the able leadership of Miss Marion Thompson, our president, the Women's League was guided through a successfully eventful Autumn quarter.

This League sent a representative Miss Genevieve Lomax to the annual meeting of the National Student Federation of America which was held at the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor.

Howard was one of the only two Negro colleges represented at this Conference.

It is interesting to note that the Y. W. C. A., which (although not synonymous with the League) is composed of Howard Women sent its representative to the New Windsor Conference on International Relations, Conference on Causes and Cure of War, and to the National Student Conference at Milwaukee. It sent two delegates, Miss Anna Lee Hill and Ernestine Morgan. The reports brought back from all of these conferences have been interesting and instructive to all.

The Women's League has also done its bit toward furthering school spirit by sending to the football team on the eve of each of its

HOWARD CHAMBER OF COMMERCE FETES DEAN COOK

On Thursday, January 13 1927, in one of the private dining rooms in the New Dining Hall, the officers and members of the Chamber of Commerce of Howard University tendered Dean George W. Cook a testimonial luncheon as a token of the esteem in which he is held by them, and in honor of his seventy-second birthday.

The room which was decorated with floral pieces, which were generously donated by Mr. Jefferson, proprietor of the Southern Floral Company, was the scene of a group of young folk who were determined to achieve success in the business world.

The dinner which was served by Mr. E. E. Thurston, consisted of three courses. Throughout the entire course of the dinner music was rendered by the New Orthophonic Victrola, which was cheerfully loaned

DENTS PROTEST TO REIGN OF IMPERIALISM

Brazilian students of the University of Rio De Janeiro at a meeting of the Senior Law Class of the University on January 18, applauded vigorously the statement that "Brazil faces the peril of being Americanized."

One of the student speakers said: "Today's meeting is a protest against American imperialism, which shames civilization by military intervention comparable to the German invasion of Belgium. If we are not careful all of South America will soon be under the American flag."

Another student, with equal vehemence, said: American soldiers thought they were dying for liberty in the European war, but they were fighting for American capitalism. The next war will be between America and Great Britain, quarreling over South American resources. Brazil is already being devoured by New York and London financial interests which we do not believe represent the spirit of the American people."

The students adopted a resolution to send messages of sympathetic support to the representatives of Mexico and Nicaragua and also to communicate this message to the American Ambassador Edwin V. Morgan. "The Brazilian students energetically protest against the armed intervention of the American government in Nicaragua."

STUDENT FREEDOM

In a statement issued in Philadelphia, Pa., recently, Wallace A. Battle, president and founder of Okolona Industrial School at Okolona, Miss., took notice of the dissatisfaction among students regarding the management of some of the private schools and colleges for education and training of Negro youth. He instanced recent unrest at Fisk University and Atlanta University.

"For the last half dozen years there have been vivid evidences of 'new freedom in schools' which in Negro private schools, I should call anarchy and mob violence." Dr. Battle said: "Not less than one-half of our private schools and colleges have either been through or are now passing through some form of mutiny and anarchy."

"If there are real grievances, redress should come orderly through two-thirds of the students in signed petitions to the president," he suggested. "Should this fail, the same petition should go to the president of the board of trustees in annual session. If the students cannot accede to the wisdom of the board then during the Summer vacation let them choose, each for himself the institution whose rules and regulations best suit his requirements."

FEDERATION CONGRESS MEETS

—New Student Service.

Three hundred delegates, mostly responsible student officers, student newspaper editors and other campus leaders poured into the Michigan Union Building for the second annual congress of the National Student Federation. They had come from one hundred and sixty institutions and from every geographic region, to discuss "The Students' Part in Education." Gravely and earnestly they listened to speeches, buzzed about the corridors of the imposing Union building, discussed in committee meetings—there was even something dignified in the tea dance. Here, according to the recommendations of the committees, is what the American students and the American colleges should be doing next:

According to the committee on the curriculum (led by Douglass Orr of Swarthmore and Marvin Breckenridge of Vassar), the colleges must become "distinctly cultural and intellectual," taking greater pains to stimulate "intellectual curiosity." Students should participate in this educational policy, studying the curricular problems and making recommendations, as student committees have already done at Harvard, Dartmouth, Oregon, Bowdoin, Kansas and Wesleyan.

Teachers will be studied by their students as to general quality, while the National Student Federation will try to help the good ones when they are suppressed.

The committee on teachers and teaching, headed by Frederick Field, chairman of the Harvard Crimson also showed a liking for tutorial systems.

THE MILWAUKEE CONFERENCE

The Misses Ernestine Morgan and Annie Lee Hill, and Mr. E. Sylvester Busey, representing the Howard Student Christian Association, attended the Conference of Student Christian Associations at Milwaukee, Wisconsin, December 28 to January 1.

They report that there seems to be a growing realization among students the world over that they have been kept too long in religious bondage to certain questionable forms and a desire to seek a true application of the tenets of religion to daily life.

It should be a matter of pride to Howard students to know that their president, Dr. Mordecai Johnson speaking on the race question, was the first speaker to draw applause from the students assembled there

1927 BISON ASSURED

The 1927 Bison is an assured fact. The Senior Class has entered enthusiastically into the work and work on the book will be completed by April 1st.

The publication this year is a radical deviation from past annuals. The theme of achievement has been adopted, and will portray the progress and achievement of the race in general and Howard Alumnae in particular.

The first eight pages are a rare combination of fine art work and careful planning. These eight pages will be done in two colors and a colored border will run thruout the book.

The cover is being especially designed and will be most appropriate for this 1927 work of art.

Delivery will absolutely be made by May 25th. Senior pictures are now being made and all seniors should call at room 414, 1927 Bison office at once and see Senior Editor Mr. Alton Berry to arrange for their pictures.

PROF. MEIKELJOHN IN CONFERENCE

"Can the average young American be liberally educated?" asked Professor Alexander Meiklejohn in what was generally considered the most important speech of the congress. Desperately, he said, the colleges are asking whether they can give a liberal education. "The process of so informing and training and inciting a mind that will go forward steadily toward understanding the life to which it belongs."

Do we succeed? We don't. The colleges are not places of understanding. Our prize exhibit is composed of our alumni. Whatever you say of the American alumnus, of one thing you may be sure; he doesn't read books. What's his attitude towards the college? To him it's a place of sentimental loyalty and comradeship contacts and friendship and other immediate necessities. Surely college loyalty is one of the most unintelligent of things when it believes as a matter of Gospel that this is the best college in the country! Pretty quickly after graduation our alumni are caught up in something else. The way of understanding? The way of study, of liberal education? No!

And yet yet for the speaker they were not too much to be blamed. The colleges fail because they are in America. "It's hard to teach literature to children from homes where no good book is read, or philosophy in a society with no taste for speculation." Meanwhile there was one thing to work with: that America has great faith in education, even if it doesn't know what education is.

California State University now offers a course for walnut growers instituted by the captains of the walnut industry in that great state.

President Nicholas Murray Butler now announces that a faculty committee at Columbia is considering instituting a film school. A committee from the film producers, appointed by Will Hays, czar of the cinema world, will act jointly with the Columbia committee.

Farsightedness is one of the keynotes to success. We have failed, miserably, to live up to the standards of progress.

Other universities add to their old and expand. We cut from the old and contract.

The School of Commerce, supplying the greatest need of the Negro youth, has been out of the university for two years.

The perseverance and courage of a few of the faculty keeps some of the vital courses in the College of Liberal Arts.

Why do our alumnae refuse to even openly question this policy? They should demand its restitution.

Our economic foundation needs new material and material made for the purpose. Howard must keep its rightful place in the sun and render its duty to the race.

If the alumnae will not act for the good of their Alma Mater it is high time for the students to do something in this matter.

What say ye?

The very moment your eyes are really opened to the awful character of sin and its guilty end, you will gladly flee from its habits as from a serpent's sting, or from a drink of deadly poison. At that moment you will turn to God with all your heart, and strive to serve Him in true righteousness and holiness all the days of your life.

We understand that the Jew boy, Cohen, from Brooklyn, is a strong advocate of the Bible—especially when he picks his "Naomi's." She's from Cleveland, too.

Fashion hint: Last year's overcoats will be worn out this winter.

STUDENT COUNCIL COLUMN

The recently elected members to the Student Council from the Freshman class are Miss Ethel G. Griffin, and Miss Willet Smith. We welcome them to the Council and hope that they will begin at once to realize, that the members of the Council are working to promote progressive movements among the students and to legislate on measures that pertain to a greater Howard.

The newly designed extra-curricula card has many advantages. It is divided into sections marked: Hilltop, Debates, Receptions, and Miscellaneous. Those sections are numbered making it easier to punch, and prevents the card from being used by more than one person.

The issue will soon be brought before you to vote for compulsory extra-curricula fee. This new ruling is to be put into effect, beginning with the Autumn Quarter 1927. No loyal Howardite will refuse to support this measure, which is the only means of financing student movements at Howard University.

Of his address, the newspapers have this to say:

"Mr. Johnson's address included an appeal for the application of the principles of Jesus to the race question in America today and to the problem of international strife and hatreds.

"Christians of America, truly practicing the precepts of the Christ could lift the stigma inferiority from the Negro in this country within the next year," he said.

"The Negro wants to be on an equal footing with the white man in politics, at the ballot box in industry—everywhere. Why shouldn't he be?"

Professor Nelson, of the college faculty, was also present and led one of the discussion groups during the period of the conference.

Contrary to an established practice, the body of students decided not to pass any resolutions, but in the last session the students expressed themselves by vote on the following questions.

On the question of war the vote was.

Against supporting any war, 327; in favor of supporting some wars and not supporting other wars, 740; in favor of supporting any war duly authorized by the nation, 95; not ready to commit themselves, 356.

On the race question, a virtually unanimous vote was given to the proposition of giving to every race the same opportunity as any of the delegates have, but on the proposition reading:

"Regarding some races as inferior to my own, I favor keeping these inferior races in their place," there were eleven who stood. For giving equal privileges on the campus to all races the vote was 681, and 435 unwilling to commit themselves.

The economic situation received attention from six angles, and on this feature only 67 were noncommittal. A committee of three was appointed to take the findings to the president and Congress of the United States and to the hundred college campuses. There were twenty-two nationalities represented among the 2500 delegates.

Women's League Leading in Campus Activities

greatest battles either telegrams or letters, dependent upon whether the game was away from, or at home—of confidence and loyalty.

At the last Vesper service before the Christmas season, the Women's League had its annual candlelight procession which proved so impressive in its sweet solemnity and silent dignity.

The most outstanding achievement of the quarter, however was the annual Women's League dinner held on November 5, in the New Dining Hall. To the strains of "Howard old Howard" the largest number of girls who have ever attended any one of the dinners marched in and took seats with the already assembled alumnae, women faculty members and wives of faculty members. After enjoying a delightful programme, and delicious menu, several hearty yells were given, and each woman was saying truthfully that she'd never had a better time in her life.

This quarter we are inaugurating our new policy of collecting one dollar from each woman student so that we shall have some money in our treasury with which to meet any financial obligations which may be ours. Up to date the response is gratifying.

With such a brilliant recent history we feel safe in saying that during the rest of this year the League will accomplish some worthwhile things, and that each individual woman will continue living up to her aim of sisterly co-operation through the Women's League.

HOWARD STUDENT SHINES AT WHITELAW RECEPTION

Charles Manney Speaker of the Evening

Led by McIver M. Johnson, president of the Young Men's Business Association, an association composed of some of the progressive young men of the city, assembled in the dining rooms of the Whitelaw Hotel and surprised Col. Robinson, the manager, by tendering him a reception. The occasion was a mark of appreciation to Manager Robinson's accomplishments as the manager of this well known hotel, a position he has filled for the past three years. Dean West and others made addresses extolling the worth of Col. Robinson. The speaker of the evening was the eloquent young Charles Manney. He spoke for about twenty minutes and paid a wonderful tribute to Col. Robinson's management of the hotel. He told how the Colonel took charge of the management three years ago when there were nine trusts on the hotel and reduced them to three. He, in eloquent words, told how these trusts were reduced in amounts to $80,000. He called on the present day young men to improve and further build up such enterprises as the Whitelaw. A menu served as only Burke and Brown can serve it, was enjoyed by those assembled. The hotel waitresses presented Col. Robinson with a handsome bouquet of flowers. Other gifts were presented to Col. Robinson by the guests.

Those present were: W. C. Nixon, president, Whitelaw Hotel Corp.; William B. West, dean of Men, Howard University; Prof. J. C. Bruce, Attorney Dickerson, Harry O. Bright, of the Tau Delta Sigma law fraternity; J. E. Perkins, Burke and Brown, managers of the Whitelaw restaurant.

tion is, and goes out for "culture or bust." To the speaker there were more important problems than enlisting support and money for colleges, which now spend altogether too much time deciding what to do with their money. The urgent, all-important job was to find teachers. Not only is it hard to get talent and power into the teaching profession, he said, but our teachers themselves have been trained in a rotten system of education. "They have been taught technical scholarship, and not liberal understanding."

Some of the speakers were: Dr. Stephen Duggan, director of the Institute of International Education; President C. C. Little of Michigan, who covered many subjects, including the workings of which in the realm of a Ph. D. thesis he described with considerable detail. Dean Alfred H. Lloyd of the Michigan graduate school and Thomas Cavanaugh, president of the Michigan student council gave addresses of welcome which were answered by Lewis Fox of Princeton, past president of the federation.

HOWARD LOSES TO MORGAN COLLEGE

Score 24-19

Howard lost a hard fought nip-and-tuck, basketball game to Morgan College of Baltimore, Saturday night Jan. 8. The game was thrilling from beginning to end and not until the referees final whistles was the outcome ascertainable. Howard's inability to shoot the free throws was chiefly contributory to the locals defeat.

The game was played in the New Howard gym before a crowd estimated at 2,000. The defeat at the hands of Morgan marks the third defeat in as many starts. The half ended with the score at 13 all. Both teams fought furiously throughout the latter half, but in the closing minutes of play, Morgan gained a five point lead which she maintained until the end.

Jones, Wheatley, Clark and Brown starred for Morgan while Spears, Coates and Hill starred for Howard.

Howard plays Storer, Bluefield, Wilberforce, Lincoln, Fisk and Morehouse during the present season.

REPORTS BY ATTENDING
EDITORS ON THE GROUP
DISCUSSIONS

ATHLETICS

By ALFRED S. DASHIELL of Scribner's Magazine

The committee on athletics was led by M. A. Cheek of the 1924 Howard Football team and Alfred Dashiell of Scribners. It reported:

"The committee unanimously favors policy of athletics for all students and promotion of interclass and intermural athletics. Supplementary to this the committee recommends that varsity coaches be paid no higher salary than full professors of the faculty."

Professionalism in sport was discussed and the opinion presented first that post season football games were harmful to the colleges when promoted by commercial interests. Second, the committee recommended that every candidate for athletic teams pledge himself at the beginning of the season not to accept a professional offer till his college class had graduated.

Alumni influence in college athletics was found objectionable though alumni representation on boards of athletic control was endorsed. The "unethical" methods of the great body of alumni for getting players were scored and the alumni demand for the coach's scalp in case of failure.

by the Music Department of the Greater Hecht Store, through the courtesy of the vice president of that firm.

Mr. Emil S. Busey of the class of '27, who is president of the Chamber of Commerce, was master of ceremonies. The speakers were Professor George W. Hines, principal of the Department of Business Practice, formerly associate professor in Finance at Howard University, who gave a brief sketch of the life of Dean Cook; following him was Professor J. W. Lewis, Professor of Finance at Howard University, who characterized Dean Cook as being a man of 27 years of age, and pledged himself to do more for the establishment of a systematic course of business administration.

Mr. Busey in introducing the next speaker, stated that the Chamber of Commerce was extremely fortunate in having Dr. Mordecai W. Johnson present. Dr. Johnson in his brief address, admonished all in his desires to better the economic condition of the colored race not to forget the religious doctrines and teachings of our parents. He concluded by saying that instead of turning our backs on the ignorant religion of our fathers and mothers, we should strive to establish an educated religion, one which will collaborate with business and the other economic forces into the making of a broader and better race.

Mr. George W. Patterson, Jr., former president of the Chamber of Commerce, spoke on the commercial aspects of the race and further expressed his determination to enter the commercial world.

Dean Cook, in his remarks, stated that because after two years abolition of the School of Commerce and Finance, and to see a group of young men and women determined to enter the business world was enough to convince him that the Negro race needed and wanted commercial education, and that he would not be satisfied until in place of the now abolished School of Commerce and Finance a College of Commerce and Finance be established.

At the guest table were Dean and Mrs. George W. Cook, Dr. Mordecai W. Johnson, president of Howard University, Professor George, principal of the Department of Business Practice, Professor J. W. Lewis, Professor of Finance at Howard University, Mr. Emil S. Busey, '27, president of the Chamber of Commerce, Mr. Herman H. Powers, '27, chairman of the Finance Committee of the Chamber of Commerce, Miss Marion M. Thompson, secretary of the Student Council, '27, Mr. George W. Patterson, Jr., '26, and Mr. Emerson W. Browne, '27, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce.

The officers of the Chamber of Commerce are as follows:

Mr. Emil S. Busey '27, president; Mr. Van M. Taylor, '27, vice president; Mr. Simon A. Douglass, '28, general secretary; Mr. Emerson W. Browne, '27, recording secretary; M. S. Julius Bennett, '27, treasurer.

The Committee on Arrangements were as follows: Mr. Walter L. Carter, '27, chairman; Mr. S. Julius Bennett, '27; Mr. Emerson W. Browne, '27, recording secretary; M. '27; Mr. Simon A. Douglass '28.

Storer College of Harper's Ferry came to the Capital City, Saturday night to demonstrate their ability, or rather disability, at the game of basketball. The game was far from interesting, as the score of 52 to 9 would indicate.

Coach Burr sent in his second combination and so persistent was this aggregation in the fury of its attack, until at the end of the half-time period, they had done damage to the Storer lads calculated at a score of 27-15.

The Storer Basketeers put up a fight, but it was simply a matter of too much Howard.

Five minutes before the end of the second half was over the first combination composed of Capt. Spears, Coats, Trigg, Simpson and Bundrant went in the game and added seven additional points to the 45 already chalked up by the reserves. Campbell, midget forward, played a stellar game for Howard. He was high point scorer, accumulating four field goals and two free throws for a total of ten points. Carpenter, ex-captain of the varsity, and Cobb, also played well, amassing 9 and 8 points respectively. Jeffers did good work for the visitors, scoring two field goals and a free throw for a total of 5 points.

In the preliminary game the Howard Freshmen outclassed the Dunbar Night School team by a score of 46 to 3.

NATIONAL STUDENT FED-ERATION MEETS

Student governments will have a choice of two paths to follow, for the discussion group on this topic split into a majority and a minority, and had a good stiff fight. Both factions agreed that the student government could win little faculty respect unless it handled purely student matters well, and proposed that measures be given full advance publicity to that end. Both factions wanted student government to extend to control over "interclass contest, elections freshmen regulations, alumni entertainment administration of student government funds, mass meetings and chapel speakers, social legislation, the control or inauguration of new organizations and activities, the arrangement of the social schedule, the convergence of the faculty student viewpoint on all matters connected with the college or university, and the judicial powers to the extent of recommending expulsion." There was doubt as to the wisdom of student council control over the complex athletic policy, and not complete agreement that students council should regulate profit-making campus activities.

The fight was on the matter of the extent of faculty control. With a wish for "student faculty cooperation," the majority proposed faculty representation on the student council or in joint committee, while the minority with the desire of first formulating student opinion independently of faculty demanded that student government of student affairs be entirely a student matter, and that joint student-faculty committees control matters of joint interest such as teaching and curriculum, leaving the students out of only such purely administration matters as college finances, etc.

The college of the future, listening to the advice of the discussion group on the honor system will be certain to install such a system, though in details there will be great differences between individual institutions. The chief problem to which it will address itself will be "creating the spirit of honor," which the "expert" of the group reported was a matter of environment and could be trained. J. S. Malloy of Birmingham Southern made the report, while Charles Gleaves of the University of Virginia presided.

Come and play, but study too.
Bye, Bye, Loafers.
Don't come here and act a fool,
You can't make nor break this school,
Bye, Bye, Loafers.
You must study hard to make a success,

Or these marks will get you in a big mess.
If you can't bring A, B, C's
You can take back F's and D's, Loafers, Bye, Bye.

"Louie" Coates is so dumb he thinks Marcus Garvey wrote the "Prisoners' Song."

Overheard in A. K. A. House
First A.—"Where are you going?"
Second A.—"Out!"
First A.—"With my dress?"
Second A.—"No, with your fellow."

Rumor has it that Jack Coles went home to Richmond, Xmas, to attend to all the little incidentals. And to think, we didn't know he was even married.

The Gin Brothers had a hot time at the Storer game Saturday night throwing their nursery bottle across the floor.

Up the hickory,
Down the dock;
How's your ma's
Husband, old sock?
